GEN. JACKSON'S RELIGIOUS CHARACTER.

It is not generally known that General Jackson was intended for the ministry. We find the following interesting facts in the correspondent of the Presbyterian Sentinel, a paper recently started in Memphis, Tennessee :

While he was very young, Jackson's father died, leaving his mother but little means to educate and fit for the duties of life himself and two brothers. Andrew was intended for the ministry of the Presbyterian church. For the accomplishment of this purpose he was sent to a flourishing academy at the Waxhaw Meeting House, in South Carolina, where he was put to the sutdy of the dead languages. The Providence of God, however, had a mission for Jackson to fulfil, and hence the prosecution of the mother's purpose was interrupted, and the whole course of the youth changed. In his after life of trial, vicissitudes, and danger, Jackson often appeared irreligious, and sometimes even profane, yet how plainly do we see a type of character traceable directly to the early training of a Scotch-Irish Presbyterian mother, and which precisely fitted him for his work.—And certainly no man, not excepting John Newton himself, has ever more strikingly exemplified the words of Solomon, "Train up the child in the way he should go, and when he gets old he will not depart from it."

In his old age, Gen Jackson became a devoted member of the Old School Presbyterian Church. Says his late biographer : "He was a sincere and devoted communicant of the Presbyterian Church, and he erected a house of worship in the immediate vicinity of the Hermitage for the convenience of his family and servants." The same biographer also states that during his last illness "he was constantly cheered by the visits of his old and attached personal friends, and the consolations of religion [illegible] ing solace to his heart. On one occasion he remarked to a clergyman who called upon him that he was in the hands of a merciful God.—"I have full confidence," said he, 'in His goodness and mercy. My lamp of life is nearly out and the last glimmering has come. I am ready to depart when called. The bible is true. The principles and statutes of that holy book have been the rule of my life, and I have tried to conform to its spirit as near as possible. Upon that sacred volume rest my hope of eternal salvation, through the merit and blood of our blessed Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.' Such were the dying words of General Jackson.—And where, I ask, in all this eventful and brilliant life, had he uttered or written words so instructive and so valuable ? They are weighty words of profound wisdom, worthy the last utterance of the great man. They ought to be framed and hung up in every dwelling as household words."

To the last he continued, when dying, to utter words of affection and christian affection and resignation. "His mind," says his latest biographer, "retained its vigor to the last, and his dying moments, even more than his earlier years, exhibited its highest intellectual light."

It was remarked by Dr. Eshleman, his attending physician that "his confidence and faith in the great truths of religion seemed to be more firm and unwavering than any man he had ever seen die. He expressed a desire that Dr. Edgar, of the First Presbyterian Church, Nashville, should preach his funeral sermon, and that no pompous parade should be made over his grave."

THOUGHTS FOR THE THOUGHTFUL.—Of all happy households, that is the happiest where falsehood is never thought of. All peace is broken up when once it appears that there is a liar in the house. All comfort is gone when suspicion has once entered ; when there must be reserve in talk, and reservation in belief.—Anxious parents who are aware of the pains of suspicion, will place general confidence in their children, and receive what they say freely, unless there is strong reason to distrust the truth of any one. If such an occasion should unhappily arise, they must keep the suspicion from spreading as long as possible, and avoid disgracing the poor child while there is a chance of its cure, by their confidential assistance. He should have their pity and assiduous help, as if he were suffering under some disgusting bodily disorder. If he can be cured, he will be duly grateful for the treatment. If the endeavor fails, means must of course be taken to prevent his example from doing harm ; and then as I said, the family peace is broken, because the family confidence is gone. I fear that from some cause or other, there are but few large families where every member is truthful. But where are all so well organized and so trained as to be wholly reliable in act or word they are a light to all eyes, and a joy to all hearts. They are a public benefit, for they are a point of general reliance and they are privately blessed, within and without. Without, their life is made easy by universal trust ; and within their home and their hearts, they have the security of rectitude, and the gladness of innocence.

COULD'NT FIND IT OUT.

Mr. Slocum was not educated in a university, and his life has been in by-paths and out-of the-way place. His mind is characterised by the literalness rather than the comprehensive grasp of great subjects. Mr. Slocum can, however, master a printed paragraph by dint of spelling the hard words in a deliberate manner, and manages to gain a few glimpses of men and things from his little rocky farm, through the medium of a village newspaper.—It is quite edifying to hear Mr. Slocum reading the village paper aloud to his wife after a hard day's work. A few evenings since, farmer Slocum was reading an account of a dreadful accident which had happened at the factory in the next town, and which the village editor had described in a great many words.

"I declare, wife, that was an awful accident over to the mills," said Mr. Slocum.

"What was it about, Mr. Slocum ?"

"I'll read the 'count wife, then you'll know all about it."

Horrible and fatal Accident.—It becomes our melancholy and painful duty to record the particulars of an accident that occurred at the lower mill, in this village, yesterday afternoon, by which a human being in the prime of life was hurried to that bourne from which, as the immortal Shakspeare says, 'no traveller returns.'

("Du tell ! exclaimed Mrs. S.") Mr. David Jones a workman, who has few superiors this side of the city, was superintending one of the large drums, ("I wonder if 'twas a brass drum, such as has 'Epluribust Unum' printed ou't," said Mrs. Slocum,) when he became entangled. His arm was drawn around the drum, and finally his whole body was drawn over the shaft at a fearful rate. When his situation was discovered, he had revolved with immense velocity about fifteen minutes, his head and limbs striking a large beam a distinct blow at each revolution. ("Poor cretur, how it must have hut him !") When the machinery had been stopped, it was found that Mr. Jone's arms and legs were macerated to a jelly: ("Well didn't it kill him ? asked Mrs. S., with interest ;") portions of the duramater, cerebrum and cerebellum, in confused masses, were scatterred about the floor—in short, the gates of eternity had opened upon him.

Here Mr. Slocum paused to wipe his spectacles, and the wife seized the opportunity to press the question.

"Was the man killed ?"

"I don't know—haven't come to that place yet—you'll know when I've finished the [illegible] It was evident when [illegible] taken down that it was no longer tenanted by the immortal spirit—that the vital spark was extinct.

"Was the man killed ; that's what I want to come at ?" said Mrs. Slocum.

"Do have a little patience, old woman," said Mr. Slocum, eyeing his better half over his spectacles, "I presume we shall come upon it right away." And he went on reading.—This fatal casuality has cast a gloom over our village, and we trust that it will prove a warning to all persons who are called upon to regulate the powerful machinery of our mills.

"Now," said Mrs. Slocum, perceiving the narration was ended, "now I should like to know whether the man was killed or not ?" Mr. Slocum looked puzzled. He scratched his head, scrutinized the article he had been perusing, and took a graceful survey of the paper.

"I declare, wife," said he, "it's curious, but really the paper don't say."

GOING THE ENTIRE PORKER.

Old Levi Allen used to go tin pedling in his younger days, at which business he accumulated quite a fortune, before he was seven-and-twenty. The neighbors of the borough where he finally settled, as the proprietor of a pretty farm, would often insinuate that Allen had not been any too honest in gathering together his riches, and such was the fact. A fellow sinner has since revealed some of the old man's youthful short comings and over goings, and there was one "dodge" of his so original that it is worth a mention. It was this:

Whenever our dealer in tin ware chanced to put up for the night, he was pretty sure to make his way to the best bed in the house.—From this bed he would take a bag full of feathers, fetching in a bag from the cart for that purpose, and contrived to smuggle out the same and get it stowed in his 'kit' before any one was stirring. This proceeding giving him several pounds of good feathers every day, did not a little towards swelling the profits of his business, and we are assured that it was only one of the many similar practices in which he indulged.

On one occasion Allen slept in a bed which was very scanty—a diminutive bed, a bed of few feathers, but all it contained were "live geese," and unusually good at that. The speculative tin ware merchant thought it would be rather a small business to take away feathers from a bed containing so few—in short that his only sensible mode of procedure was to take the entire bed. He accordingly rose before the sun, and commenced shoving it out of the rear window, with the intention to go down on account of "that 'ere colic," and store it away before any one was "up." But as ill luck would have it, the host had arose, and was out under the window gathering some light chips and fuel for the morning fire, and when he saw the bed 'looming up' in such an unnatural position, and just ready to fall to the ground, he cried out to the pedlar :

"Halloa there, stranger ! what are you doing ?"

The astonished "operator" saw that he was canght in the act, but his ready wit helped him out.

"Doing ?" he rejoined, with a look full of wrath, as he thrust out his head and took a survey of the field, "I guess some of these infernal bed bugs will soon find out what I am about—haven't slept a wink all night !"

With this he "let" the bed out of the window, and went down to the wood-pile, from whence he took a club, and gave the bed such a beating therewith, as would have been fatal to any sort of "creeping thing" ensconsced therein. He then took it back to his room, and looked so "darned honest" at breakfast, that his host didn't charge him but half price for his lodgings, and took it all in "tin."

THE DEACON AND THE IRISHMAN.

Under this head we find the following amusing story going the rounds :

A few months ago as Mr. Ingalls, of Swampscoot, R. I., was travelling in the western part of the State of New York, he fell in with an Irishman, who had lately arrived in this country, and was in quest of a brother who came before him and settled in some of the diggins of that vicinity.

Pat was a strong athletic man, a true Catholic, and had never seen the interior of a Protestant church. It was a pleasant Sunday morning that brother Ingalls met Pat, who inquired the road to church. He told Pat he was going to church himself, and invited his new acquaintance to keep him company thither, (his place of destination being a small Methodist church near by.) There was a great revival there at that time, and one of the Deacons (who by the way is very small in stature) invited brother Ingalls to take a seat in his pew. He accepted the invitation, and walked in, followed by Pat, who in vain looked to find the altar, &c. After he was seated, he turned to brother Ingalls and in a whisper which could be heard all around, inquired :

'Sure, and isn't this a hirritick church ?'

'Hush,' said Ingalls, 'if you speak a loud word they will put you out.'

'And faith, not a word will I spake at all,' replied Pat.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the pastor. Pat was eyeing him very closely, when an old gentleman who was standing in the pew directly in front of Pat shouted 'Glory !'

'Hist, ye clear demon,' rejoined Pat, with his loud whisper, which was plainly heard by the minister, 'be dacent, and don't make a blackguard of yourself.'

The parson grew more and more fervent in his devotions. Presently the Deacon uttered an audible groan.

'Hist-t-t, ye blackguard, have you no dacency at all ?' said Pat, at the same moment giving the Deacon a punch in the ribs which caused [illegible] plicating manner, said—

'Brethren, we cannot be disturbed in this way. Will some one put the man out ?'

'Yis, your rivirence,' shouted Pat, 'I will,' and suiting the action to the word, he collared the Deacon, and to the laughter and utter astonishment of all present, including the pastor and brother Ingalls, he dragged him through the aisle, and with a tremendous kick he landed him in the vestibule of the church.

MARRIAGE EXTRAORDINARY.

A bridal party were assembled at the Roman Catholic chapel in Limerick, ready to take one another 'for better or worse,' but the gay Lothario could not screw up his courage to the striking point, and when asked if he was willing to take the lady as his wedded wife, he became absolutely tongue-tied. Meanwhile the lady, who before blushed with modesty, now crimsoned with indignation; but the would-be Benedick put into her hand a £20 note as a reparation to her wounded feelings. Sensibly enough she took the money, and thinking it a pity that she should be disappointed, and knowing that no time was to be lost as it was the last day of Shrovetide, she turned off from the fickle swain, and asked a young man who came to witness the ceremony, and with whom she had been previously acquainted, if he would have her. He jumped at the proposal, and the necessary forms having been gone through, the marriage rites were completed. On the conclusion of the ceremony, the newly-made bride took from her pocket £20 and handed it and the £20 to her new lord and master, to the amazement and chagrin of her former suitor, who, it would appear, "found his proposal" on a report that the lady had money, and backed out of it at the last moment not seeing it forthcoming before the marriage. To increase his trouble, the now happy man one exclaimed, "Ah, you lost a bargain."

SPURGEON AND THE YANKEE.

A gentleman who has recently returned from England, relates an anecdote of Mr. Spurgeon, that is to good to be lost : The great preacher had for his theme one day, the power of individual personal effort; and to illustrate it, he told a story of a 'Yankee,' as Mr. Spurgeon called him, who boasted that he could whip the entire English nation himself. And how could you do it ?' said a bystandr.—'Why,' said the yankee, 'I would take on Englishman at a time; I would whip him, and then I would take another, and so I would go along till I had whipped the entire nation.' At the close of the sermon Mr. Spurgeon, the relater of the anecdote, and several friends retired into a vestry. Soon there came in a tall, lean, long-faced, solemn looking man, who had ed from the State of Maine. He presented Mr. Spurgeon a letter of introduction, and was welcomed by the preacher. Soon Mr Spurgeon addressed the new comer by saying 'Well, my American friend, how do you like my illustration of individual power, drawn from your countrymen ?' 'Oh,' said the member from the Pine Tree State, 'I was well pleased with it, because it was so true,' and this said with the utmost solemnity of tone and gravity of manner. 'So true, so true,' said S., 'what do you mean, sir ?' 'I knew a Yankee that did that once,' was the reply. 'And what was his name ?' Mr. Spurgeon asked; to which the Yankee answered—"The name, sir, was George Washington; perhaps you've heard of him.' Mr. Spurgeon was dumb for a moment; he then joined in a hearty laugh, and allowed 'the Yankee' was too much for him.

LETTER FROM MR. BUCKALEW.

The Columbia Democrat publishes the following portion of a letter from Charles R. Buckalew, giving an account of the earthquake at Quito :

"Dear Sir : We had this morning, at 8¼ o'clock, the most severe earthquake which has visited Quito during the present century. Its duration was about one minute. The spires of many churches are throw down, roofs of houses fallen in, and the street in many places lined with broken tiles precipitated from above. I have just returned from visiting the Flores House, from which we removed on the 17th instant. It is in ruins—a great part of the roof is down, also a part of the second story ; the chimney top, thrown with violence, carried away the stable roof, some of the furniture is crushed, and the brick and tiles are piled four or five feet deep over the bed places where we slept. We escaped the catastrophe by just five days.

My present house is un injured, is reasonably secure against future shocks, and there is plenty of open ground adjoining for refuge. Mrs. Buckalew and I passed into the patio, and the children and servants into the garden during the shock—from our position, I saw the action of the house, and the movements of the earth to advantage.

A bricklayer, on the roof, working at a chimney top, found it thrown in confusion around him, and took a firm grip to hold himself from following the fragments. There is more or less of injury all over the city, but details are yet unknown. I did not think the number killed is very large. I have had time to make only a slight personal examination, the houses are very much shattered, and another severe shock would produce immense destruction.

Reports from neighboring villages represent them as having suffered severely, and we await news from the South, where previous earthquakes have been most severe. I might fill my sheet with reports, but have confined myself in this letter to what I know.

Your's respectfully,

C. R. Buckalew.

[illegible] W. I. W[illegible] ADVANCE OF SCIENCE.—[illegible] has been no age since the light of Christianity dawned on the world which has at once more earnestly demanded and more signally encouraged the world's redemption. Even the apostolic age and the period of the Reformation were scarcely more marked than this. A momentous battle is yet to be fought ; the means and instruments of victory are yet in the hands of the church, and a valiant use of them is demanded alike by the greatness of the conflict and the assurance of success. No age has made bolder assaults on Christianity than this. It is not, indeed, an age of prisons and fagots, for the genius of civil government now generally disowns them ; but it is an age in which the deepest and most untiring researches of science, and the most impassioned sentiments and loftiest flights of literature, are both faithily and openly arrayed against the cross. And unfortunately for the truth, it is not an age characterized by calm, clear, logical thinking ; it is more an age of sentiment, of imagination, of rhetoric. Few sit patiently down to a book of simple and exact truth. Unless it is partly dashed with impassioned sentiments, thrilling with sharp points, and wrought into the witchery of romance ; or replete with such facts as out-romance fiction itself, found in the story of those stark mad with sin and lust, it has no book for the million. And men of profound philosophy also, false to their position, are found among those who esteem themselves wiser than Jesus Christ.

But a better day is at hand. We see its dawn already. Not a few are becoming tired of idle speculation, and are looking earnestly for substantial truth. They are those who like sober and earnest views of life ; who think, study, search, and pray for truth, and prize it above all gold and glory ; who place the eternal riches of the soul in the knowledge and love of God, before the most alluring enchantments of pleasure, and the most glittering prizes of ambition. These are the men who have fought the battles of Christianity through every hour ; they are men of honorable scars and bruises, all in the front ; they will continue to do as they have done, only more and more ; they will, in the strength of God, fight the battle through to final victory and triumph. Not a single fear for the result. We know in whom we have believed. Neither the [illegible] in boasting of those who claim to be in the [illegible] of Christianity, and regard it as old [illegible] and wornout superstition, nor the wild [illegible] of the baser sort, will avail to move a [illegible] breadth from its foundations this rock of [illegible] ages. There it stands, and ever will ! [illegible] world grown to wise for Christianity ! [illegible] that the world knows, worth knowing, is [illegible] it. Science in advance of Christianity ! [illegible] is no science worthy of the name that [illegible] reached its port by following Christian- [illegible] leading star. "It is the scientific [illegible]," one has well said, "who looks mean [illegible] poor, and almost contemptible, beside [illegible] Christian philosopher. It is still found that [illegible] ganity is far in advance all that science [illegible] lected from the depths and brought [illegible] from the heights of the universe. Every [illegible] loves that we must make apologies for [illegible]—none for Christianity. Like a diser, the Gospel grows in lus tre, in beauty, [illegible] purity the nearer we approach it. Time [illegible] no wrinkles on the brow of our religion. It came not from the dust, and to dust it does not return.—Historical Discourse by Rev. Dr. Winslow.

LIFE AFTER BURIAL.—A singular occurrence, says the Albany Knickerbocker of the 27th, was discovered in a vault attached to one of our burial grounds on Sunday last. It was that of a female, who, was deposited therein for dead some two months since, being found, on opening the coffin, to be laying on her side, with one hand under her head. From this it was evident that the woman was alive when placed there, and awakening from the trance into which she had fallen, endeavored to extricate herself from her entombment. This, of course, was an impossibility ; the cover was not only screwed down tightly, but the space was too contracted to allow of even an effort. It was evident, however, that the unfortunate woman became convinced of the fact and concluded to die. She therefore took the easy posture in which she was found and breathed her last. The thought that they had buried her while yet alive, set her friends almost crazed. The father and mother had just arrived from the old country last week, and were brought to the vault to see their child. The scene is related as heart rending.

☞The following good story of a negro's first meeting with a bear is told by Col———, who had spent most of his fortune and life in the woods of Florida. The Col. had a black fellow, a good natured happy creature ; who, one morning, was strolling through the woods, whistling and rearing as he went, when suddenly he spied an individual as black as himself, with much more wool. Dick looked at this new friend, and the bear (on his rump) at his. Dick's eyes began to stick out a feet. "Who's dat ?" cried Dick, "Who's dat ?" again cried Dick shaking all over. Bruin began to approach. Dick pulled heels for the first tree and the bear after him. Dick was upon the cypress and the bear stretching close after him. Dick moved out on a limb, the bear followed—till the limb began to bend. "Now, see here mister, if you come any farder, dis lim broke. Dere ! dere ! I told you so." As Dick said the limb broke, and down came bear and nigger. Dere you black debbil, I told you so ; dis is all your fault. Yer broke yer neck and I'll just take yer to Massa Colonel.'

☞A certain clergyman in this city some three months ago, married a highly respectable looking couple of strangers. He was somewhat surprised when they bade him "good afternoon," the bridegroom making no offer of the [illegible] always expected. A day or [illegible] hand, and shook it with great cordiality, anxiously inquiring after his health, his family, etc., and wound up with presenting him with a sealed envelope and disappearing. On opening it a fifty dollar bill presented itself to the eyes of the astonished clergyman, and a few lines saying that the husband was unwilling to "pay the minister" until he had tried his wife and found her "not wanting." The experiment had resulted to his entire satisfaction, and "enclosed he would please find $50, a fee for his performance of the marriage services."—Cleaveland Review.

OUR BEST PARLORS.—Don't keep a solemn parlor, into which you go but once a month, with a parson or sewing society. Hang around your walls pictures which shall tell stories of mercy, hope, courage, faith and charity. Make your living room the largest and most cheerful in the house. Let the place be such that when your boy has gone to distant lands, or even when, perhaps, he clings to a single plank in the lonely waters of the wide ocean, the thought of the still homestead shall come across the desolation, bringing always light, hope and love. Have no dungeon about your house—no room you never open—no blinds that are always shut.—Ik. Marvel.

EXPECTATION OF LIFE.—Every man, woman, and child has a property in life. What is the value of this property ? Mr. Charles M. Willich has established an extremely easy rule for expressing this value, by stating that from 5 to 60 the expectation of life is equal to two-thirds of the difference between the age of the party and 80. Thus, say a man is now 20 years old. Between that age and 80 there are 60 years. Two-thirds of 60 are 40, and this is the sum of his expectation of life. If a man be now 60, he will have an expectation of nearly 14 years more. By the same rule a child of 5 has a lien on life for 50 years.—Every one can apply the rule to his own age. Mr. Willich's hypothesis corresponds very closely with Dr. Farr's English Life Table, constructed with great care from an immense mass of returns.

Treatment of Founder.—As soon as it is ascertained that a horse is foundered, take from the neck vein from one to two galons of blood, according to the size and condition of the animal ; give one ounce of alum, either powdered or mixed with damp oats, or as drouth place the horse in a dry stall, (ground floor is best,) wrap his legs up as high as the knees and hock-joints with wollen cloths ; saturate them with cool water, and keep them so seven or eight hours, give him no food for twenty-four hours, and then let it be a light feed of oats and bran mixed. In two or three days your horse will be fit for almost any kind of service. If his ankles continue feverish, bathe them at night with equal parts of vinegar, alcohol and sweet oil.—Cor. Prarie Farmer.

A CHANCE.—Any "respectable" man, who wants to marry ten thousand dollars with a wife thrown in, has the opportunity offered him. We see it stated that "the chief of a band of gypsies encamped near Indianapolis, offers the hand of his daughter, with a dower of $10,000, to any respectable man who will marry her." The "gall" will be in demand.

☞"Please, sir, lend poppy your knife to make a pen with."

"Certainly, my son, here it is."

Youth retires with the knife and returns in about an hour.

"Please sir, here's your knife ; poppy's done with it."

"I should think he was. Why what the—— has he been doing with it ? I thought he wanted it to make a pen ?"

"So he did ; but I forgot to say it was a pig-pen."

Exit youth, a little in advance of an old boot. —N. Y. Dutchman.

HARROWING POTATOES.—If potatoes are harrowed just before the shoots are coming through the ground, the after labor of hoeing is greatly reduced. The harrowing also breaks the crust of the soil, and the shoot can penetrate through the ground more readily. It has also another advantage : it removes a portion of the soil from above the plant and thus the plant receives, during the first stages of its growth, when the soil is cold, the more direct influence of the sun.

☞A Pike's Peak pilgrim passed through Davenport, Iowa, the other day, encased in a buckskin suit, with the seat of his breeches painted red. He also had a gun on his shoulder, a dog at his heels, and was following the railroad rack. Imagine a dark night — express train in the rear, with a big reflector in front of the engine, throwing the light on the subject.

FUN FOR A TYPO.— * of my existence give me an }," said a printer to his sweetheart.—She immdiately made a ——— at him, and planting her ☞ between his two I I's nearly put a . to his existence. ☞Dan Russel, the Union candidate for Auditor in Mississippi, being called on for a speech, began thus :

"Fellow citizens ! You have called on me for a few remarks. I have none to make. I have no prepared speech. Indeed, I am no speaker. I do not desire to be a "speaker," I only want to be an "auditor."

☞A learned young lady the other evening astonished the company by asking for the "loan of a diminutive, argentiferous truncated cone, convex on its summit, and semi-perforated with symmetrical incantations."—She wanted a thimble.

[illegible] little four year old, "give [illegible] me ten cents to buy a monkey."

"We've got one monkey in the house now," said the older brother.

"Who is that Dan ?" said the little fellow.

"You," was the reply.

"Then give me ten cents to buy the monkey some candy."

His brother "shelled over," immediately.

THE RESULT.—The man who did not think it respectable to bring up his children to do work, has just heard from his three sons. One of them was a driver on a canal ; another had been taken up as a vagrant ; and the other had gone to a public institution to learn the shoe-making business under a keeper.

☞A school-boy, of about six years of age, approaching the master with a bold look and self-confident air, and the following dialogue ensued :—

"May I be dismissed, sir ?"

"What reason have you for making the request, Thomas ?"

"I want to take my woman out sleighing, sir."

TWELVE farmers in Greenfield (Mass.) have made 12,175 pounds of maple sugar the present season. The total number of trees tapped was three thousand four hundred and twenty-two. The greatest yield per tree was four pounds, and the smallest a trifle less than three pounds. The average was about three and half pounds per tree.

☞An honest son of Erin, green from his peregrinations, put his head into a lawyer's office and asked the inmate :

'An' what do you sell here ?'

'Blockheads,' replied the limb of the law.

'Och, thin, to be sure,' said Pat, 'it must be a good trade, for I see there is but one of them left.'

☞'No man in the nation is more indebted to the people than I am,' said an office holder. 'Indeed, sir? how much of their money have you taken.'

☞"Wife," said a tyrannical husband to his "abused consort," "I wish you to make me a pair of false bosoms." "I should think," replied she, "that one bosom, as false as yours is, would be sufficient."

☞Booth, the tragedian, had his nose broken some years since. A lady once said to him, "I like your acting, but I cannot get over your nose." "No wonder," said he, "the bridge is gone."

CONVERSION OF SEAMEN.—Rev. J. B. Ripley, pastor of the Mariner's Church, on Water street, above Walnut, in his fifth annual report, states that about 500 seamen have been converted during the year.—Pennsylvanian.

TROUBLE IN THE OPPOSITION CAMP.

The Black Republican presses throughout this State, have been wonderfully exorcised, for the last few weeks, concerning the defection of the Forney-ites, their columns abounding with the falsehoods of Hickman, and the subtleties of Judas W. Forney. Suddenly, however, as by a clap of thunder from a cloudless sky, these busy intermeddlers are startled from their business of courting Democratic renegades. The "National," or "Straight Americans" issue a call for a State Convention, independent of the Black Republican People's Convention, which Straight American Convention is to be held at Harrisburg on the 29th inst. This is the unexpected thunderbolt that carries dismay into the ranks of the Black Republicans and causes them for a moment to let other people's business alone and to think of setting their own distracted household in order. We make a note of this, for the reason that the "National American" Party has no organ in Bedford county, and it is not likely that the 398 men who voted for Isaac Hazlehurst, in 1857, would learn from any other newspaper in this neighborhood that their party is about to hold a State Convention.—What will come of this "American" movement, we do not pretend to foretell, nor do we care whether it amounts to anything, or not, as the Democracy, with a full turn-out at the coming election, can easily redeem the Old Keystone, though our enemies be united and harmonious.

BLACK REPUBLICANISM.

The measure known as the "two years amendment" has been adopted by the people of Massachusetts and is now a part and parcel of the Constitution of that State. By the success of this measure, white naturalized citizens of the United States, are disfranchised in Massachusetts for two years after they have attained to citizenship under the Federal laws. Should a German, or an Irishman obtain his naturalization papers in Pennsylvania, and should he go to Massachusetts to reside, though fully invested with all the rights and privileges of a citizen of the United States, he could not vote nor claim any of those rights and privileges, for two long years after his removal to Massachusetts. But whilst the German and the Irishman are thus disfranchised—whilst white citizens of the United States are thus stripped of their rights and their liberties—the negro—the black man, who can be no citizen of the Union—is allowed to vote and to exercise the privileges from which the white naturalized citizen is debarred. Good people! this is Black Republicanism for you. This is the work of the party that asks you to place them in power at the coming election. Massachusetts, with her Black Republican majority of thirty thousand, degrades and spits upon the white naturalized citizen, but elevates and enfranchises the black man who cannot be a citizen! Who will disgrace himself by continuing to belong to such a party?

☞The Black Republican friends of GEORGE W. WILLIAMS try to screen their amalgamation representative, by saying that a few Democratic members of the Legislature, voted as he did on the bill to prevent the intermarriage of whites and blacks. This is a poor excuse, indeed, and shows to what a pitiable strait the defenders of white and black amalgamation are driven. The fact that a few Democrats voted with Mr. Williams, does not make the doctrine of white and black intermarriage correct. There are always a few black sheep in a flock, and the so-called Democrats who voted as did Mr. Williams, on the anti-amalgamation bill, are sheep of the blackest kind.

☞Gen. Bowman's paper, The Constitution, continues to give entire satisfaction to the Democracy of the whole Union. Its editorials are very able, and we shall take great pleasure in transferring some of them, from time to time, to our columns. We are glad to hear that a club for the Weekly Constitution is about being raised in this place. Our friends throughout the country, who desire a good weekly newspaper, published at the seat of Government, cannot do better than to subscribe for the Constitution.

☞The news from Europe which we publish to-day, is of a startling nature. There is now scarcely a doubt of a universal European war—a war such as has not been heard of since the serried hosts of the first Napoleon traced their march in blood. Europe, probably, will be revolutionized. Louis Napoleon will either rise, or fall forever. The effect of this war upon our own country, may be beneficial. It may furnish us a market for all the grain we can raise. We shall endeavor to keep our readers posted on all the important events that may occur during its progress.

☞A National Convention of the drovers and shippers of stock is to be held in the city of Pittsburgh, on Wednesday, the 8th of June. It is expected that the Convention will be largely attended.

THE BLAIR COUNTY WHIG.—Judging from an editorial which appeared in the last issue of this bellicose journal, we must have touched the editor in a tender point by the publication of our article of the 6th inst. The Whig man raves and fumes at our exposition of his demagogueism. In the language of Hudibras, he is

> More peevish, cross and splenetic
> Than dog distraught, or monkey sick.

But his rage is impotent. Instead of demolishing us at one fell blow, as he, doubtless, intended to do, his valiant strokes rebound upon his own devoted head. He says that our article "contained a paragraph hitting at him for having published the fact that foreign countries are sending grain to this country, instead of us exporting it." This is not true, Mr. Whig. We did not object to your publishing the fact that grain has lately been imported from foreign countries; but we did take you to task for your shameless and unmanly attempt to make political capital of that fact, and we believe that you are even now ashamed of the trickery at which we caught you, else you would not try to sneak away from it as you strive to do in your last article. If you don't keep a file of your concern, or if your memory is too bad to remember what you said in your article on the importation of wheat, we hope you will not object to our re-publishing it. We give it below, verbatim et literatim et punctuatim, and again call the attention of our readers to the fact that the article in question is not a mere statement, or item of news, as the Whig would have us believe, but a reckless and contemptible effort to awaken prejudice and ill-feeling against the Democratic party. Read it and mark its tone:

WHEAT FROM EUROPE.—This seems a strange perversion of the proper and natural current of trade, but we have advices, by the last steamer, of the shipments of this article to Philadelphia. A lot of eight or nine thousand bushels on its way from Liverpool, is now offered for sale by samples and will probably pay a good freight. Hurrah for Democratic rule! How the country is prospering under it! Well, that is the latest! We will go on importing dry goods, breadstuffs, etc., until the people have no means to buy and then we will go smash! Splendid policy! Great country!

A WEEK AMONG THE "FROSTY SONS."

Somerset county has ever been our Mecca. Whether near to us, or afar off, the revisitation of its hills and valleys, has always been to us a pleasant pilgrimage. Were it otherwise, we would have good reason to be ashamed of our nature; we would deserve to be pointed at as a living affirmative to the indignant questioning of the poet,

> Lives there a man with soul so dead,
> Who never to himself hath said,
> This is my own, my native land?

But it is not our purpose, at present, to give our readers a homily on patriotism; we intend merely to write a few commendatory lines concerning the good old town of Somerset, as to its present architectural aspect. Fine brick buildings and neat white cottages have taken the place of the dingy old fabrics and gloomy sheds that a few years ago made up the body of the town. The old stores (we had almost said "old sores") are being dressed up, and lettered off with signs that "he who runs may read." Stately churches occupy places that but lately were vacant ground and a commodious Union School House rears its broad proportions where ere while stood the old one-story, urchin-carved and coal-besmutted burrowing-place of itinerant pedagogues. Even the "old Academy" has been rejuvenated and within its snug apartments a High School is taught by a learned and able teacher. Billiard tables and ten-pin alleys, we believe cannot be classed, strictly speaking, under the head of architecture; nevertheless we cannot refrain from observing in this connexion, that Somerset has recently been supplied with its full share of these useful "institutions." The hotel of W. H. Picking, Esq., contains two very fine billiard tables, as we can testify, having there met in fierce encounter, at sundry and divers times, the Somerset Knights of the Cue. (And a chivalrous set they are — never "holing" your ball unless they find it "straight for the pocket!") Speaking of hotels, the one just named, Mr. Picking's "Glade House," is an excellent hostelry. Commend us to Pick's table, any time. Then, there is the new hotel just opened by our clever friend, James H. Benford, Esq., and soon to be known and extolled wherever good entertainment is appreciated, as "THE ROSS HOUSE," named after that most exemplary of young sexegenarians, General George Ross, of Franklin county. We can safely recommend this house as one of the best in all Western Pennsylvania.—We had intended to say something of the very many clever people it was our good fortune to meet during our visit to Somerset, but are compelled to forego the pleasure of doing so, for the reason that it would crowd out all other matter intended for this week's issue, were we to mention the names of all the good fellows we met in the course of our week's sojourn. But we could not excuse ourselves, did we omit making mention of our editorial brethren, Col. C. F. Mitchell, of the Democrat, and W. A. Ogle, Esq., of the Herald & Whig, to the former of whom we are indebted for many favors and to the latter for as much kindness as could reasonably be expected from an Opposition candidate for Prosecuting Attorney. Long may they both wave, and long may Somerset remain as she is now, one of the prettiest and most thriving country towns in Pennsylvania. Vivent les "Frosty sons of Thunder!"

THE UNPRINCIPLED OPPOSITION.

It is worthy of public observation that whilst Democratic candidates in the North are always denounced for alleged "subserviency to the South," the Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia has, all through the canvas just closed, been bitterly assailed by the opposition for alleged unfaithfulness to the institution of slavery! An attempt was made to connect Mr. Letcher with the publication of a pamphlet containing sentiments adverse to slavery some years ago, and this was the main staple of every speech made or editorial written against him since the campaign begun.—If this charge was true, the Northern branch of the opposition party should have yielded their sympathy to Mr. Letcher. As honest opponents of slavery, they should have prayed for the triumph of the man who had boldly said, on the soil of Virginia, that slavery was "a social and political evil."

Not regarding Mr. Letcher as sound enough on the slavery question, the opposition in Virginia selected a candidate from that portion of the State most deeply interested in the maintenance of the peculiar institution. And to make sure work of it, they took a gentleman noted for his devotion to the cause of slavery: and all through the campaign we heard how unanimously the slaveholders of Eastern Virginia were rallying to the support of Goggin, and how terribly Letcher's anti-slavery declarations in former years were telling against him.

How did this news from Virginia affect the opposition in the free States? Did they throw up their hats for Letcher, who was not quite a fast enough "nigger driver" for the opposition in Virginia? They did no such thing. They depreciated Letcher and lauded Goggin to the seventh heaven. Goggin's prospects were brilliant! Goggin's tour was a triumphant march! Goggin was more than a match for his opponent! Goggin was skinning Letcher alive! Goggin was achieving great victories! Goggin was gaining a hundred here! Goggin was converting a thousand there! Goggin would be elected and poor Letcher and the "Ruffner pamphlet" laid in the shade!

Thus by the interest they displayed in the success of Goggin did the opposition in the free States expose their wretched hypocrisy.—They care nothing about slavery. Their sole wish is to defeat the Democracy. They care not how it is done—whether at the North by a Seward Abolitionist, or at the South by a Goggin "slave driver." They are utterly without principle and totally indifferent to everything but success. Mr. Botts, of Virginia, declared in a public speech, that if negroes had a right to vote, he would be glad to have them help the opposition to beat the Democracy, and we know how gladly our opponents in the free States would accept the aid of the "slave drivers" in the next Presidential contest. An intense hatred of Democracy is the ruling motives of our opponents in all parts of the country. How can honest and intelligent men be content to follow the fortunes of such an unprincipled political organization?—Valley Spirit.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION OF 1860.

The Republican papers of late, happily say the Cincinnati Enquirer, have been bragging extensively upon their prospects of success in the election of 1860. They declare it is now a certainty that a Republican President will be inaugurated on the 4th of March, 1861. It is undoubtedly, true that they were pretty successful in carrying the Northern elections in 1858, but that is no indication of the result in 1860. Their victories are generally a year or two too early or too late. Even taking the elections of 1858 as the criterion, and the chances for the next Presidency are against the Republicans. It is certain there will be a fusion between the Northern and Southern Opposition in 1860. The Republicans will run their own candidates on their own platform just as they did in 1856. Of course, this being the case, they will not get a solitary electoral vote of the one hundred and twenty-five belonging to the Southern States. The Democracy may not get all of them, but they will cast against the Republicans. In 1858, the Democratic majority on the State officers in Illinois, was between two and three thousand. In Indiana the Democratic State ticket had about three or four thousand majority in that year.

In California and Oregon the Democratic majority was large. These Democratic States have thirty-one electoral votes. Unite the South they would give one hundred and fifty-one against the Republicans, ce—The whole number of electoral votes being two hundred and three. The Republicans only should carry the rest, would only succeed by one majority. Recollect that this one majority is on the basis of the late elections. Add to them of either Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut would be fatal. They can have to carry all these States in 1860. If Opposition should go into the House of Representatives, the Republican candidate for President will not be chosen. He could not get the fifteen Southern States. He could not get Illinois, Oregon and California. Thirteen States are a majority of the whole, and would prevent a Republican election. It seems to be impossible that any Republican can be elected, unless the Democrats make a outrageous blunder in their candidate or platform at Charleston. If a popular candidate there, on a national platform, cannot be elected by a larger majority than Buchanan received in 1856.

☞Much has been said of the Eastern Esculapius' labors for the sick; not one half has yet been told of the indomitable perseverance of this singular man. Imbued with the conviction that Scrofula is the parent of disease, he has been engaged in searching the boundaries of the earth, for its antidote. With vast labor he has canvassed the products of sea and land, through both continents, until he has discovered that combination of remedies which expurges this human rot and corruption from the system. This new invention we now offer in our columns under the name of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, although its virtues are from substances far more active and effectual than Sarsaparilla.—Mercantile Journal.

☞It is said that the proposed "Straight American" State Convention is called for the purpose of taking steps to secure to that party a ticket which they can consistently support at the coming election. Last year they coalesced with the "Black Republicans," but found themselves cheated, the latter getting all the offices and the "Straights" getting just nothing at all.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING.—John Heart, Esq., formerly editor of the Charleston Mercury, has been appointed Superintendent of Public Printing, by the President, in place of Gen. Geo. W. Bowman, resigned.

THE NAME, "REPUBLICAN."

We see by some of the Opposition journals that an attempt is to be made at the June State Convention, to abolish the distinctive title of "Republican," assumed by the Abolition wing of the Opposition party. This is a trick of the Know Nothings and is intended to make their own the dominant faction in the Opposition ranks in 1860. Of course, the soi disant "Republicans" will not agree to this new "American" project, and the result will be, if the said project is persisted in, a regular Kilkenny cat fight between the various fag-ends of our harmonious opponents. Already we hear the growling of insulted "Republicans," as witness the following from the Lancaster Examiner, the organ of the "Republicans" of Lancaster county!

LIGHT DAWNIG.—We see by the Philadelphia Daily News of Tuesday, that delegates were to be elected last night to the eighth of June Harrisburg Convention, and the News calls upon the voters not to elect any person a delegate who is not pledged to calling a "People's National Convention," to nominate a candidate for President. We suspected from the start it was a John P. Sanderson "Daily News" side door operation to attempt to distract the Republican party, but we could not get any of the "knowing ones" to open their mouths about it, until it was necessary to sound the alarm in Philadelphia to the "side door"-ites to come to the rescue.

By the "side-door operation," we understand the organization of the "People's Party," which was established last Fall. According to the party of Pennsylvania, were at the last election, swindled by this "side door operation." Hadn't they better be careful what ticket they vote hereafter? The Delaware Republican echoes the growl of the Examiner in the following emphatic style:

If the Examiner has any faith in these "side-door" gentlemen, it will find itself a victim of misplaced confidence. The arrangement has already been made by the politicians to sink the Republican name, and it will most assuredly be done, unless the people resolutely adhere to the platform of principles enunciated at Philadelphia in 1856.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE FOR APRIL.—This sterling old periodical "still holds the even tenor of its way"—always interesting, never dull. Not a number of its long series is ever taken in hand and thrown aside for want of sufficient interest to detain the reader—a rare merit, certainly, in a periodical, and one we are quite sure can be claimed for Blackwood alone.

The present number contains a continuation of "A Cruise in Japanese Waters," which increases in interest. "The Luck of Ladysmede, Part II," which promises to be one of those charming tales or novelettes for which Blackwood is so famous. "A Winter Journey," is lively and sportive. "The Turks in Kalafat—1854—Part II." "Christianity in India," an able review of Kaye's late work under that title, being a history of the introduction and progress of Christianity in India, from the sixth century down to the present time, with sketches of the early missionaries, and of the English Bishops — Middleton, Heber, and Wilson.—"Adam Bede," a commendatory review of Elliot's new religious novel—and three articles on "Parliamentary Reform," one of which contains a notice of M. Chevalier's late work on the "Fall in the Value of Gold," which the writer alleges will, of itself, silently work out a change in the elective franchise, sufficient to satisfy the most liberal of radicals.

Published by Leonard Scott & Co., 54 Gold Street, N. Y., at $3 a year, who also publish the four leading British Reviews at $8—Blackwood and the Four Reviews, $10.

Dr Keyser's Pectoral Syrup—Three Children cured of Whooping Cough.—Three of my children were very bad with whooping cough, for which we tried several remedies for it without relief. The first few doses of Pectoral Syrup gave relief, and cured the urgent symptoms. I used but one bottle, which cured them so far as to relieve the whooping cough entirely.

Another cure of myself.

I took the Pectoral at the same time for a cough, two doses of which cured me entirely. This is all the result of one bottle.

The Mercersburg Classis of the German Reformed Church.—This body opened its sessions and organized, on Friday evening, in Huntingdon, Pa., and continued its sittings until Tuesday evening of this week. There was a full attendance of clergy and lay delegates, and their meetings have been of the most interesting character. This classis is composed of some twenty-five clergymen and as many elders, from the counties of Franklin, Bedford, Huntingdon, and Fulton, and it is remarked that as a body it would compare quite favorably with any similar ecclesiastical body in point of dignity, learning and true piety. We noticed among those in attendance the Rev'd Drs. Schaff, Fisher, Schneck, and a number of other clergymen of note, from the counties named. The pulpits of all the Churches in the town, were supplied by classis on Sunday, and also those of the neighboring towns. There appeared to be a very friendly intercourse existing between the members of classis, and the citizens, the hospitable doors of the latter being freely opened. That the labors of this body will result in much good we do not doubt. An effort was made to divide the Bedford charge so as to constitute two charges, whether this has been effected we have not learned, but presume that it has, from the fact that this action appears necessary.

THE SALAMANDER SAFES OF PHILADELPHIA AGAINST THE WORLD.

Evans & Watson

Have had the surest demonstration in the following certificate that their manufacture of Salamander Safes has at length fully warranted the representations which have been made of them as rendering an undoubted security against the terrific element:

Philadelphia, April 12th, 1856.

Messrs. EVANS & WATSON,—Gentlemen,—It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of two of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some few months since, we saved a large portion of our jewelry, and all our books, papers, &c., exposed to the calamitous fire in Ranstead Place, on the morning of the 11th instant.

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning ruins, where the vast concentration of heat caused the brass plates to melt, we cannot but regard the preservation of their valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your Safes.

We shall take much pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERUPTIVE and SKIN DISEASES, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSE, or ERYSIPELAS, PIMPLES, PUSTULES, BLOTCHES, BLAINS and BOILS, TUMORS, TETTER and SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, RINGWORM, RHEUMATISM, SYPHILITIC and MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIATED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

AYER'S

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC,

are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache, arising from disordered stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

Nycum's Improved

CAST-IRON CARRIAGE HUB.

THE undersigned believes that he has invented a cast iron carriage hub which far excels all others now in use, for strength, neatness and durability, and that it only needs to be examined, and its merits tested; to secure its universal approval and adoption. Indeed it is no longer an experiment, it having been effectually tried by the best judges in our country, and pronounced one of the Greatest Improvements of the Age!

Several vehicles have been in use over two years with the Improved Hub attached, and the wheels are still as perfect as when they left the shop, the unavoidable wear excepted.

This is the only Cast Iron Hub ever invented suitable for light wheels.

This improvement is of such a nature that one or more spokes may be taken out changed or replaced without disturbing the other portion of the wheel. Where a wood hub is used, if a spoke happens to become, broken, it is necessary to cut the tire and separate the felloes, to get at the damaged part. The wheel must be then recomposed, the tire rewelded and reset. All this involves a considerable expense and loss of time.

In the present Improvement the inner ends of the spokes are secured in an Iron Hub, which consists mainly of two shells fastened together with screws. By simply unscrewing the nuts and taking off the back shell, any one of the spokes may be removed or changed, and the hub again put together, leaving the wheel as solid and firm as ever, all

WITHIN THE SPACE OF A FEW MINUTES.

This method of constructing Iron Hub Wheels gives them unusual strength, besides obviating several other objections that have heretofore attended their use. The cost of manufacture is also greatly reduced.

LIGHTNESS AND NEATNESS

The subscriber Agent for Bedford County, will dispose of Township and shop rights on reasonable terms. WILLIAM O'NEAL, Agent.

LATE FIRE IN DUBUQUE, IOWA.

DUBUQUE, Jan. 7, 1859.

GENTS:— I am requested by Mr. T. A. C. Cochrane, of this place, to say to you that on the morning of the 4th instant, about 3 o'clock, his store took fire, and the entire stock of goods were destroyed. The heat became so suddenly intense that none of the goods could possibly be saved; but fortunately his books and papers which were in one of your Champion Safes, were all preserved perfectly. And well they may be called Champion, for during the whole conflagration there was one incessant pouring of flame directly upon the sale which contained them. And still, upon opening it, the inside was found to be scarcely warm, while the outside was most severely scorched.

Yours truly,
N. A. McCLURE.
